

Hawaiian Gazette.

VOL. LIII. NO. 85

HONOLULU, HAWAII TERRITORY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1910.—SEMI-WEEKLY.

WHOLE NO. 3218

JAPANESE AND HONOLULU FRIENDS CELEBRATE THE BIRTHDAY OF THE EMPEROR

Brilliant Reception Held by Consul Uyeno at the Alexander Young Hotel.

From early morning yesterday, when the sons and daughters of Japan donned their newest kimono and made joyful, until the last flicker from the Japanese warships in the harbor played upon the lingers in the decorated roof garden of the Young Hotel, Honolulu right royally celebrated the fifty-eight anniversary of the birth of His Imperial Japanese Majesty.

Throughout the city and county the Rising Sun shone in all its lurid splendor, thousands and thousands of Japanese flags being displayed. At noon, from the visiting cruisers, the royal salute boomed out. Aboard the flagship, during the afternoon, hundreds of the leading citizens of Honolulu, Americans and Japanese, paid their respects to the visiting admiral and his officers, enjoyed the brilliant decorations for the occasion, inspected the battle scars received in the gallant fight in the Sea of Japan when Rojostevsky and his ships were wiped off the face of the water, and where admiral and admiral toasted the heads of the nation of each other. In the evening, American and Japanese gathered as the guests of Consul-General Uyeno at a reception, where flashing gold lace vied with the dazzling illuminations, where beautiful gowns were admired against the background of red and white and blue uniforms, where gay laughter mingled with the music of the Japanese naval band and that of a Hawaiian orchestra.

The roof garden-blazed with colored incandescents, the mingled banners of America and Japan decorated the reception and ball-rooms, while overhead and round about flashed the rays of the cruisers' searchlights, the cruisers themselves, outlined in electric globes, presenting a beautiful sight to the merry-makers five stories above them.

Throughout the day the officers, cadets and men of the visiting cruisers were variously entertained ashore, although no especial form of public entertainment was provided. There was no lack of places for the sailors to go, however, the local Japanese taking good care of that.

Reception Last Night.

The reception given by the consul-general in honor of the day and the visiting admiral was a brilliant function, attended by the local diplomatic corps, officers representing every branch of the American service, by territorial officials and leading citizens.

The always beautiful roof-garden was made still more beautiful for the occasion by emblematic decorations and innumerable red, white and blue incandescents, beneath which the many guests promenaded and danced. Consul-General Uyeno and Admiral Yashiro received the guests in the reception pavilion, Hon. A. L. C. Atkinson making the necessary introductions.

Placed in the center of the roof garden was the naval band from the flagship, resplendent in red uniforms. Throughout the evening the musicians played, alternating Japanese airs with those of America, their playing of the Star Spangled Banner being splendid, calling for much praise.

Throughout the evening, dancing was conducted in the makai pavilion, to the music of Ernest Kani's Quintet Club, and refreshment booths were placed at available and much patronized places in the garden.

The affair throughout was worthy of the occasion and of the host and his distinguished visitor.

Reception on the Asama.

No hero's battle record has ever been more proudly displayed to the world than the honorable scars of conflict which gashed the heavy steel sides and turrets during the Russo-Japanese war and which were shown to all the guests of Admiral Yashiro aboard the armored cruiser Asama yesterday afternoon. While soft music was played by the flagship's band, and while ladies were being received with the profuse courtesy for which the Japanese are famed, those already aboard were piloted by obliging midshipmen along the decks, passing the ponderous branches of the broadside batteries, and out to the forward deck, where the great gray turret mounted vast above all the other armament. There, chiseled in the tempered steel convex of the turret, was a deep gash, where the steel had been gouged out by a Russian shell, fired during that awful day when Rojostevsky's fleet was all but annihilated in the battle of the Japan Straits. That gash is the Asama's Victoria cross—her claim to distinction as a fighter which has seen actual, fearful service, whose guns had the distinction, also, of assisting in sending Russian warships to the bottom of those deep straits, the day when Russia found herself stripped of a navy and at the mercy of her for East enemy.

The admiral, the captain, the officers, midshipmen and crew were all willing that that honorable scar should be seen by

H. I. M. CONSUL-GENERAL SENICHI UYENO.

REAR-ADMIRAL YASHIRO.

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the festive-looking crowd. It was the fancy dance party, composed of enlisted men of the cruiser, arrayed in fanciful garb. Their leader was garbed in the most fantastic style as an admiral, with long whiskers, vast epaulets and decorations and a diminutive sword. There was a wild man of Borneo, an ape, a coy haole girl, a Hindu and many others. Their dance was side-splitting, and they carried off their respective characters very well.

Visitors to the Cruisers See the Marks of Russian Shells on the Turrets.

The deck of the Asama was lined with flags, the quarterdeck being reserved for the tables where refreshments were served a la buffet, and where Admiral Yashiro, attended by Admiral and Mrs. Rees, Governor and Mrs. Frear, Secretary and Mrs. Mott-Smith, were the center of interest. When the champagne glasses were filled Admiral Rees proposed a toast to the Emperor of Japan, and Admiral Yashiro responded by calling for a toast to the President of the United States.

The decks were attractively decked out with flags and streamers and in odd nooks and corners were many curious and allegorical representations.

Unique Allegorical Representations.

Many and various were the devices originated by officers and crew for the entertainment of young and old. Figures fashioned out of twine, cotton and parchment, huge beetles with incandescent eyes, an octopus on the forward main deck, with long tentacles of hose, the captain serving for a head, provoked much interest and laughter. Fujiyama, cleverly constructed with raincoats, surmounted by cotton to represent the snow at the summit, was much admired. Artificial cherry blossoms, so true to life that many visitors were deceived, were an example of the artistic handiwork of the crew. The scene on the wharf was never the less entrancing. Stalwart midshipmen, splendid examples of muscular development, gave an exhibition of judo in a matted enclosure.

SWIFT VESSEL IS PLACED AFLOAT

QUINCY, Massachusetts, November 3.—The destroyer Walke, which is designed for a speed of thirty knots an hour, was launched here today.

CRASHED INTO HOLD.

SAN DIEGO, October 23.—A huge block of granite weighing twenty-three tons, fell into the hold of the American-Hawaiian freighter, Columbian, yesterday morning when the slender wire cable by which it was being raised was broken. The stone fell with a crash to the bottom of the vessel's hold carrying with it two steel hatch girders and several pieces of planking.

The shock of the impact was felt on the Santa Fe wharf bringing the customs officers and others to the scene in a hurry. A Mexican longshoreman who was standing near the stone when it fell, sustained bruises on the leg and other minor injuries from the rope as it parted.

A heavier cable was attached to the stone and it was raised to the level of the dock and unloaded.

FLOOD NECESSITATES BLOWING UP OF DAM AT LIHUE MILL

(Special Wireless to The Advertiser.)

LIHUE, November 3.—The entire island of Kauai was drenched by a heavy downpour of rain on Tuesday night, ten inches falling on the average in a few hours. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

the visitors, and few went away without gazing at it.

The reception aboard the flagship was attended by a large number of Honolulu's official and social coteries, and during the two and a half hours of the reception a series of entertainments was provided for the visitors. The wharf was curtained half way down from the street entrance with flags, and in this great space, between the Asama and the Kasagi as they lay on opposite sides of the wharf, jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling exhibitions were under way, all the customs of each being strictly observed. The great-limbed and muscled wrestlers strained their energies, and their exhibition was frequently applauded by the visitors, who not only stood upon the wharf, but lined the rails of the great ships. The jiu-jitsu and judo exhibitions were novel and are seldom seen here. The young cadets were put through their paces in judo by veterans in the art, and took the hard falls as if no muscle had been there. Great damage to crops in the rice and taro fields has resulted and many bridges were swept away by the

ORDERS CLARK UNDER ARREST

Former Police Court Cashier Must Show Cause to Prevent Imprisonment.

Henry N. Clark, the discharged cashier of the Honolulu district court, and under indictment for misuse of the funds of the court, who failed the second time on Wednesday to answer the questions propounded to him in the grand jury room, was the subject of a report from that body yesterday and filed with Circuit Judge Cooper, who immediately issued a citation for the arrest of Clark for contempt of court, ordering him to appear before the court at nine o'clock this morning to show cause why he should not be imprisoned.

The grand jury made its report shortly before three o'clock, and a short time afterward the citation was issued and placed in the hands of the police for service. It was stated that in the event of his arrest last night he would, of course, be held a prisoner, and that his attorneys would make an effort to have him released under habeas corpus proceedings taken out in the United States court.

The grand jury, in its report on Clark, stated that on November, the grand jurors being then and there in regular session for the investigation of the district magistrate's office and the funds and moneys received and collected by the said district magistrate, etc., Clark appeared before them as a witness and was asked the following question:

"Was this check turned over to you by B. P. Zablan as part of the cash of the said Honolulu district court upon your return from your vacation on August 7 of this year and the resumption by you of your duties as cashier of said court?"

The grand jury, by its foreman, R. R. Reidford, goes on to state that the attention of the witness was drawn to a certain check, dated August 16, payable to cash, for the sum of $120, drawn on the banking firm of Bishop & Co. and signed B. P. Zablan, and the attention of the witness was also called to the check, dated July 13, payable to the district magistrate, or order, for the sum of $336, drawn on Bishop & Co. and signed by "Frank Andrade, trustee," after which the following questions were propounded to the witness: "What, if any, instructions did Judge Andrade give you about presenting this check for payment?" "What, if any, instructions did Judge Andrade give you about carrying this check as cash in the funds of the district magistrate?"

Notwithstanding the order of the circuit judge ordering him to answer, Clark steadfastly refused to open his mouth in answer to these questions, upon the ground that his answers might tend to incriminate himself.

Upon this showing Judge Cooper had the citation issued and placed in the hands of the police to arrest Clark.

McCANDLESS ATTACKS THE SUPREME COURT

Charges It With a Dishonest Decision and Tells About the Recent Convention.

McCandless, from the soapbox, yesterday attacked the supreme court of the Hawaiian Islands, and in order to justify his attack told the crowd something about a kuleana case in which he was mixed and in which he was trying to get more from a division of the land than the young Hawaiian owner, which he said was a case where the supreme court was "dishonest in its decision," and "they ought to be ashamed of themselves."

In connection with this case McCandless, who is Democratic candidate for delegate to congress, said "Achi has wrote me a letter."

McCandless declared that the Democrats who attended the territorial convention came there pledged against immigration, and that he had absolutely nothing whatever to do with their actions, being there with "nothing to say, except as one man with one vote."

BRITISH CABINET HAS A SHAKEUP

LONDON, November 3.—John Morley has been elected president of the council, vice Earl Beauchamp, who has been made first commissioner of works, having succeeded Lewis Harcourt. The Earl of Crew has succeeded John Morley as secretary of state for India, and Lewis Vernon Harcourt has been appointed to the position of secretary of state for the colonies, this vacancy having been caused by the promotion of Earl Crew.

FLEET OFF FOR TARGET PRACTISE

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—The Pacific cruiser fleet has gone to Santa Barbara for target practice.

CANON AULT TO OFFICIATE

Imposing Funeral Ceremonies Being Arranged for Late A. S. Cleghorn.

Rev. Canon Ault of St. Andrew's Cathedral will be the officiating priest at the funeral of the late Archibald S. Cleghorn, to be held on Sunday afternoon. At both the services in the cathedral and at the tomb in the royal mausoleum grounds, in which the casket will be placed and sealed with the other members of the Kalakaua dynasty who have gone before, Canon Ault will read the beautiful burial service of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The pall-bearers who have been selected are: Judge Sanford D. Dole of the United States court; Judge A. S. Hartwell, chief justice of the Hawaiian supreme court; Col. C. P. Iauke, trustee of the Liliuokalani Estate; Hon. W. O. Smith of the Queen's Hospital trustees; Rear-Admiral Corwin P. Rees, United States navy; E. I. Spalding of the Bank of Honolulu, and Cecil Brown of the First National Bank.

Secretary of the Territory Mott-Smith is arranging the plans for the funeral, according to a request of members of the family of the deceased, and because a burial in the royal tomb involves an official interment. He will issue invitations to the main territorial and federal government officials, representatives of the army and navy and the consular corps, the mayor of the city and others. Invitations will be issued to these to participate in the ceremonies in the cathedral, where seating arrangements will be made in accordance with rank and custom.

The funeral procession will be participated in by a detachment of Hawaiian police, the Hawaiian band, two or more companies of the national guard and others who may wish to participate may fall into line.

The services at the cathedral will be at two o'clock.

It is said that one of Mr. Cleghorn's dearest wishes was that old Ainahuna, one of Honolulu's beauty spots, and the home of sweet memories of the late Princess Kaiulani, daughter of Mr. Cleghorn, be not divided into building lots, but held intact and made over into a public park, that the people may enjoy the scenes upon which the eyes of Mr. Cleghorn's beloved daughter rested during most of her lifetime, and where he was wont, with his open-handed hospitality, to entertain the stranger within the gates of his adopted home. This may appear in his will.

BRIAND SELECTS TWO OF HIS MINISTERS

PARIS, November 4.—M. Pinehon has been named by Premier Briand as the minister of foreign affairs in the new cabinet being formed, and M. Bruz as the minister of war.

REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN HONDURAS

WASHINGTON, November 3.—Martial law has been declared in Honduras as a result of a revolt against the government. General Valadarez has been deposed. The gunboat Princeton is on the scene protecting American interests.

DECLARES THAT LEPROSY CURE HAS BEEN FOUND

A special despatch to the New York Herald from San Francisco credits Doctor Walters, president of the Hawaiian Medical Society, with a positive statement regarding a found cure for leprosy.

"Within two years we will be eradicating leprosy on a wholesale scale. I am certain the cure has at last been found," he is reported as saying.

"The cure," continued the doctor, "is being developed under the commission sent to Hawaii by the federal government to aid the local investigators. This commission consisted of Doctor Brucknerhoff, now of Harvard; Doctor Currie and Doctor Holliman.

"These men have been working for the last four years along the lines begun by Moses T. Clegg, of Manila. Taking Mr. Clegg's work as a scientific beginning, the federal commissioners have worked on the serum theory of treatment, and they have reached a point where I am certain a full success is in sight.

"The work progresses on lines of inoculation. Doctor Currie is very careful in his statements and very conservative in his predictions. He will not go quite as far as I do, but I repeat that I am certain a cure for leprosy has been found."

LABOR MEN OF LOS ANGELES PARADE

Ten Thousand Unionists Carry Torches and Signs Through City Streets.

PROCESSION WAS ORDERLY

Hundreds of Extra Police Had No Call for Service—Parade Was Impressive.

LOS ANGELES, November 4.—Anxious to show their strength to those who have allied themselves against unionism since the explosion that wrecked the Los Angeles Times building, and who have resolved to spare neither expense nor energy in keeping this city one of the open shops, united unionism paraded the streets last night.

Ten thousand men, carrying torches, marched through the principal streets, hundreds of illuminated signs being in the line. The men represent almost the total strength of all the unions of the city, while along with them were several labor leaders from other cities of the State.

Hundreds of extra policemen had been sworn in to prevent any disturbances along the route of the union procession, but the crowd that marched and the crowd that watched along the line were orderly. There was no shouting, no noisy demonstration; simply a procession of grim, determined men, marching between lines of determined citizens. The parade was an impressive one, showing the opponents of unionism what they are called upon to contend with, while the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the onlookers proved to the unionists the general apathy for their cause felt among the rank and file of the people.

HEAD OF BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION COMING HERE

WASHINGTON, November 3.—Daniel J. Keefe, commissioner of the bureau of immigration and naturalization in the department of commerce and labor, left Washington today on a tour of inspection of the affairs of his department, including the immigration station at Honolulu, where he will make a study of the local immigration question.

FATHER HEADS POSSE TO RESCUE DAUGHTER

CITY OF MEXICO, November 4.—Pedro Soltero, the Mexican peon who kidnaped Grace Rolph, the sixteen-year-old daughter of a resident of Lincoln, Nebraska, is being closely pursued, the father of the girl leading the posse. The government has ordered the commanders of troops in the districts being traversed to lend all possible aid in the rescuing of the girl and the capture of the abductor. Those who have seen the fugitive and his victim report that the girl has been brutally mistreated and presents a pitiful sight. Her captors force her to accompany him in his flight under threats of death.

WIND DESTROYS MANY AEROPLANES

BALTIMORE, November 4.—Great damage has been done by storm to the temporary buildings erected on the Hangars aviation field, where contests were about to be run off. The buildings to house the air machines were leveled by the fury of the wind and the aeroplanes, in many instances, have been wholly destroyed. It is estimated that the damage to the machines will total fifty thousand dollars.

BERING SEA IS STORM SWEEPED

NOME, Alaska, November 4.—A terrible storm is now sweeping across Bering Sea, and great damage is being done along the Alaskan Coast. Reports from the various small towns and landings tell of wharves swept away or damaged, while shipping is in peril.